FAST PUBLICATION

IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science (EES) is a fast, efficient and low-cost free-to-read (open-access) proceedings service designed to provide conference organizers with a highly flexible solution to proceedings publication. Based on our hugely successful open-access proceedings in physics, EES offers an outstanding service to organizers of conferences specializing in the earth and environmental science disciplines.

By choosing EES you can create a comprehensive record of your event and make a valuable contribution to the open-access literature that will be of long-lasting benefit to your research community.

Why choose IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science?

- Open access: all articles are free to read and download as soon as they are published.
- Fast publication: your proceedings will be online within three months of us receiving the accepted articles.
- Comprehensive solution: from plenary to poster papers, large or small events, specialized to multidisciplinary, EES can accommodate them all.
- High visibility: open access and fully indexed by Google, EES papers are easy to find, ensuring international exposure for your conference proceedings.
- Excellent service: with professional support and advice at all stages of the publication process, EES will make your publishing experience enjoyable and easy.
- Streamlined workflow: straightforward PDF file requirements supported by online guidelines, and templates in Word and LaTeX.

What makes IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science different?

- Pre-publication approval: organizers are provided with a login to our pre-publication servers to check and approve their proceedings prior to online publication.
- Peer review software: for large conferences, EES has an arrangement with Editorial Manager™ to provide online manuscript submission and peer review management facilities.
- Unbeatable flexibility: we will work with you to find the very best solution for your proceedings, helping you to meet editorial objectives within financial constraints.
- Promotional partners: close ties with Environmental Research Letters (the world's first open-access journal to cover the whole of environmental science) and its sister website environmentalresearchweb, means EES can offer more avenues for promoting your conference and proceedings.

What are the publishing options?

EES provides a fast, highly versatile and cost-effective proceedings publication service. From online-only proceedings through to printed copies, CDs and DVDs for participants, EES offers unbeatable flexibility. We will work with you to find a publishing solution that meets the editorial objectives and financial constraints of your conference.

Online-only publication

Every conference is published as an open-access volume of EES. The simple fee per article publication charge gives you:

- Free access for all to read
- Preparation of online abstracts and hyperlinked reference lists
- Unlimited number of pages in each article
- Unlimited use of colour online
- Unlimited additional multimedia items
- Citation tracking

Can I buy printed copies or CDs?

EES offers a range of printing and CD/DVD publishing solutions. If you need time to select the appropriate solution for your conference, you can delay the decision to buy printed copies or CDs/DVDs until after online publication is complete.

- Printed copies: hardback or softback binding, colour printing options, delivery direct to participants or in bulk before or after the conference.
- CDs/DVDs: containing a copy of the online proceedings, the CDs/DVDs are available in a variety of packaging solutions.

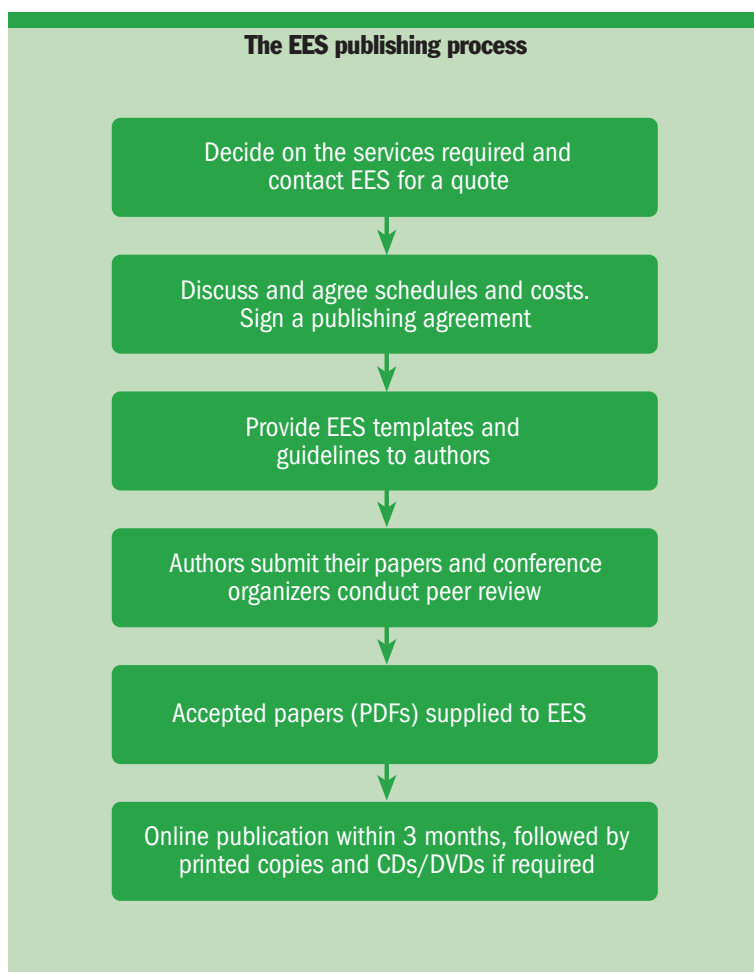

"IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science is an online, free to read, resource which is available to everyone who has an interest in the earth and environmental science disciplines. With an experienced publishing team, comprehensive scope and low-cost open-access publication, EES offers a uniquely flexible proceedings service. We look forward to working with you."
