

Assignment of Copyright Form for Science and Technology of Advanced Materials

This Assignment of Copyright provides authors and their institutions the right to reproduce, distribute and communicate their published article to the public, and to make any other use which they may choose for non-commercial purposes, with the exception of submitting the work to a third-party publisher.

1. The National Institute for Materials Research (“NIMS”) and IOP Publishing (“IOP”) agree to publish:

Manuscript Title:
 (“the Article”)

written by

Names of all Authors:

.....

.....
 (“the Named Authors”) in Science and Technology of Advanced Materials (“the Journal”)

2. Author and Institution Rights

NIMS grants the Named Authors and their institutions all rights otherwise restricted by copyright including the right to reproduce, distribute and communicate the Article to the public and to make any other use which the Author may choose. Under this agreement the Named Authors may:

- post the published version of the Article on their own personal website, on their employer’s website/repository and on free public servers in their subject area.
- share print or electronic copies of the Article with colleagues.
- use all or part of the Article and abstract in personal compilations or other scholarly publications of their own work.
- use the Article within their employer’s institution or company for educational or research purposes, including use in course packs.
- make oral presentation of the Article (all or part) and include a summary and/or highlights of it in papers distributed at such presentations or in conference proceedings.

All such rights must be exercised for non-commercial purposes, if possible should display citation information and NIMS’s copyright notice, for electronic use best efforts must be made to include a link to the on-line abstract in the Journal, and the Article should not be offered for publication to a third party publisher (prior to withdrawal or rejection) nor included in other publishers’ web sites.

3. Third-Party User Rights

Third parties will have the same rights to reuse the Article as described in the Creative Commons–Non-Commercial-ShareAlike 2.5 license. These open access rights allow third-party users to copy, distribute and display the published version of the Article, and create derivative works, subject to appropriate attribution and non-commercial exploitation.

4. Transfer of Copyright Agreement

4.1 On acceptance for publication the undersigned author(s) (“Author”) of the Article assigns exclusively to NIMS worldwide copyright in the Article for the full term and for all media and formats in all material published as part of the Article, which expression includes but is not limited to the text, abstract, tables, figures and graphs, but excludes any supplementary material.

4.2 If any of the Named Authors are Government employees, on acceptance for publication the Author shall grant NIMS a royalty free exclusive licence for the full term of copyright for all media and formats to do in relation to the Article all acts restricted by copyright worldwide.

4.3 On acceptance for publication the Author shall grant NIMS and IOP a royalty free nonexclusive licence for the full term of copyright for all media and formats to do in relation to any supplementary material deemed to be part of the Article all acts restricted by copyright.

5. Signature

In signing this Agreement the Author represents and warrants that the Article is the original work of the Named Authors, it has not been published previously in any form (other than in a research thesis or dissertation which fact has been notified to IOP in writing), all Named Authors have participated sufficiently in the conception and writing of the Article, have received the final version of the Article, agree to its submission and take responsibility for it, and submission has been approved as necessary by the authorities at the establishment where the research was carried out.

The Author warrants that he/she signs this Agreement as authorised agent for and on behalf of all Named Authors and has the full power to enter into this Agreement and to make the grants it contains, that the Article has not been and will not be submitted to another publisher prior to withdrawal or rejection it does not infringe any third party rights, it contains nothing libellous or unlawful, all factual statements are to the best of the Author’s knowledge true or based on valid research conducted according to accepted norms, and all required permissions have been obtained in writing.

All Named Authors assert their moral rights.

Author’s signature.....Date.....

Signature on behalf of Institution.....Date.....

Note that if the Article was prepared as part of a Named Author’s duties for their institution this Agreement must be signed by their institution as Author. Further, if there are several Named Authors it should be signed by one author in a representative capacity. If all Named Authors are employees of the US Government and the Article was prepared as part of their duties the Article is not eligible for copyright and one of the Named Authors should sign below to confirm this fact. If at least one of the Named Authors is not a US Government employee the above should be signed.

I (print name.....)

confirm that all Named Authors are employees of the US Government and the Article was prepared as part of their duties and consequently the Article is not eligible for copyright.